HIV-positive man may have more than one victim, police say

► Tips from camp staff led to arrest of accused ► Police said it was the first time accused and victim met face-to-face

As a 17-year-old Alberta teen waits to find out if she is HIV-positive, police warn other victims may have contracted the virus from her alleged attacker.

Charges have now been laid against 56-year-old Xavier Robert Bissonnette, who was diagnosed with HIV in 1998. The teen was allegedly sexually assaulted July 8.

Police said Bissonnette picked the teen up at her summer camp and drove her to his residence in southwest Calgary where the assault is alleged to have taken place.

According to police, the accused did not disclose his medical condition before engaging in unprotected sex with the victim.

The suspect and the victim had been interacting over an adult dating website since early May, sparking the issue of Internet safety.

Bissonnette had told police he had previous relationships with women from the website.

"We're very concerned for the community. I think it's our duty to let people know that you could be infected with this virus, that is life-threatening," said Sgt. Dave Louie.

"Parents need to be aware of where their kids are at with their websites," said Joan Bever, executive director of the Parent Support

Notify police

► Sex Crimes Unit. Anyone who believes they may be a victim of Bissonnette is asked to notify the Calgary Police Service Sex Crimes Unit at 403-428-8175.

► Provincewide. Victims may be across Alberta, as Bissonnette's job requires him to travel.

Association of Calgary.

Police are still investigating the case, and say they have very little information about the suspect.

Bissonnette has been charged with aggravated sexual assault and is expected to appear in court on July 18.

Data secure with U of C innovation

Do you still fret about the security of online banking transactions? That worry could be a thing of the past with a new type of encryption called the quantum key.

Yesterday, a team of 17 researchers led by Dr. Wolfgang Tittel of the University of Calgary demonstrated quantum-key encoding by sending a photo from the lab at U of C to a lab at SAIT polytechnic. Tittel says a quantum key cannot be copied or eavesdropped on without it being noticed, which renders hacking or corruption impossible.

A smart way to 'Connect'

Calgary Transit's smart card has an official name.

After the task of determining an appropriate title for the piece of technology was turned over to the public, 18 entrants submitted the victorious name, Connect, which beat out other popular names such as Energy and Range. More than 5,000 entries were submitted.

The new cards will go online next June, allowing commuters to load it with cash, rides or monthly transit. Smart-card readers will be installed on buses and at C-Train stations.

► Thanks to a new app, Calgary motorists may soon be able to decide on a parking spot before they even turn on the ignition.

Downtown parking app could be ready by fall

- Officials met this week to start developing real-time technology
- Apps would help tourists and newcomers plan trips downtown

JEREMY NOLAÏS
@METRONEWS.CA

Calgarians may be paying the highest prices for parking in Canada, but a new app could at least alleviate the stress of finding a spot.

Troy McLeod, head of the Calgary Parking Authority, says a mobile program is in the works that would provide real-time information on available parkade space as well as suggestions on where to park near certain landmarks.

The app could also provide historical data on which on-street parking areas — where real-time data is not available — are typically less busy at any given time.

"You would enter your meeting locale, and it would populate the distance to each one of the available areas," McLeod said.

He said the app could be particularly useful for infrequent downtown visitors — something that was welcomed by Tourism Calgary CEO Randy Williams.

"A lot of our visitors to Calgary are rubber-tire traffic," Williams said. "Information on where there's parking accessibility will make it a more enjoyable and added-value experience in Calgary."

News of the app comes as a recently released report by real-estate firm Colliers International says Calgarians pay the highest median parking rate in Canada, at $472.50 per month.

The Calgary Parking Authority has said that it typically sets its rates at about 80 to 85 per cent of those offered by private companies.

Park it there

- 1 The Calgary Parking Authority told Metro in February that it was hoping to post real-time parkade information online, but this app would enhance trip-planning abilities, Troy McLeod said.
- 2 McLeod said the app would use existing technology, and he hopes to have something ready for the fall.

Parkdale group fears shutdown

► Legal representatives exploring possibility of appeal

JEREMY NOLAIS

Following a judge's ruling Tuesday, a Calgary community association, claiming it's in dire financial straits, worries other groups could face similar situations.

The Parkdale Nifty Fifties, a seniors, golden-age group, decided to sue the Parkdale Community Association and City of Calgary earlier this year claiming threats of eviction.

Both groups built portions of a community headquarters and have shared it for decades.

Association vice-president Darcy Morgan said his group was trying to establish a sub-lease and acquire rent payments, something it is required to do as the leaseholder.

A judge disagreed with the association's actions and granted the Nifty Fifties continued use the facility, free of charge.

The community association now faces up to $80,000 in legal fees and damages.

"We had just turned the corner financially and came off the city's at risk-list (list)" said Morgan. "It's devastating."

Morgan claims his group is responsible for all building maintenance, but Nifty Fifties administrator Jeannette Tario disagrees.

"We have always wanted to work with the community association," she said.

ONLINE FRAUD

Buyer and seller beware

Police are asking the public to be more careful when buying and selling vehicles online after an increase in reports of fraud.

According to police, fake bank drafts and identification are used to buy cars from sellers, leaving the seller with no money and no way to get their vehicle back.

These vehicles are then sold to new buyers, who can have their vehicles taken away by police.

So far this year, there have been 24 reported cases of this type of fraud.

Police are asking anyone who has been a victim of fraud to contact them at 403-266-1234.

Boyfriend killer sent back to jail

► Father says he shot daughter's boyfriend to save her from drugs ► Sentence brings some closure to two families

A Saskatchewan father who said he shot his daughter's boyfriend to save her from drugs is going back to jail.

It's an apparent end to a long and emotional legal battle for two families.

Kim Walker, 54, was sentenced yesterday to eight years in prison after a jury found him guilty of manslaughter in the 2003 death of James Hayward.

Justice Ellen Gunn in Yorkton deducted six and a half years for the more than three years Walker has already spent in jail. He'll serve another 18 months.

Court heard during the trial in May that Walker shot Hayward five times — and then leaned down and drew a bloody cross on the dying man's forehead.

Jadah Walker was 16 when she moved into Hayward's home in Yorkton. He was 24.

Court heard that Walker feared for his daughter's life as well as his own.

He testified that Jadah was doing drugs after moving in with Hayward. He had tried to get police and school counsellors to help, but no one did.

At one point, Walker petitioned to have his daughter held for 72 hours in a psychiatric ward. By then her weight had dropped to about 95 pounds from 135.

► Kim Walker

She went back to Hayward's house shortly after she was released — the day of the shooting.

Jadah Walker testified that Hayward was a "bad influence" on her life — he sold drugs and injected her with morphine. She also testified that Hayward had threatened her parents.

She said her father came to Hayward's house on the day of the shooting and pleaded with her to come home.

"He is a contributing member of society. He has expressed remorse to the Hayward family."

JUSTICE ELLEN GUNN,
SENTENCING KIM WALKER

She said Hayward yelled at her father to get out of the house. That's when her dad grabbed his gun and started firing, she said.

Both the Walker and Hayward families seemed relieved with the sentence.

"As long as he's back in jail, I'm OK," said Hayward's mother, Lorrie Getty.

Jadah said: "Personally I think that's a huge victory for my family."

"I'm a little bit unsatisfied that he has to go back in, but given that she's crediting him for six and a half years is phenomenal."

"And you know, 18 months, we can work with 18 months."

Defence lawyer Balfour Der argued that Walker acted in self-defence.

"I think the sentence is too high for this man in these circumstances. He should have got the minimum as far as I'm concerned," he said.

Der said Walker has 30 days to decide if he wants to appeal.

Flames end her chance of life

A woman passenger pleaded for help after a small airliner crash-landed in Brazil yesterday, gesturing through a window to onlookers. But the aircraft burst into flames before aid could arrive. All 16 people on board were killed, officials said. The twin turboprop aircraft reported problems after taking off from Recife.

Morning drama

- Neighbours awoke June 1 to the sounds of a man attacking a family of raccoons with a shovel, police say.
- Officials say one baby raccoon suffered some broken toes and was taken to a wildlife rehabilitation centre to recover.
- The mother raccoon took the other babies away.

Raccoon case eased

The Crown is pursuing lighter charges than it could seek against a Toronto man who allegedly beat a family of raccoons in his backyard.

Dong Nguyen faces charges of animal cruelty and possession of a weapon for a dangerous purpose.

Crown lawyers told court yesterday they are working with the charges as summary offences rather than indictable charges. Indictable offences would allow for greater punishment.

Nguyen, 53, could serve a sentence of no more than 18 months if convicted of animal cruelty.

'No toking' signs likely a no-go

► Amsterdam's pot-discouraging signage set to become more of a collector's item after legal setback

PETER DEJONG/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

After an only-in-the-Netherlands legal reverse, the city of Amsterdam said yesterday it will likely have to stub out the "no toking" signs it introduced in a crackdown on marijuana-smoking youth.

The Dutch government's top legal adviser ruled that the city had no right to establish official zones where smoking weed is banned, since it's already theoretically illegal in the Netherlands.

In practice, possession of small amounts of the drug is allowed, and it is sold openly in designated shops.

When the policy was introduced in 2007, the city put up signs to declare the "no toking" zones. The signs portrayed a cone-shaped cigarette being rolled, with little marijuana leaves in the background — inside a bold red circle.

They were stolen so often as collectors' items the city opened its own merchandise line and began offering them itself for $125 apiece.

City spokeswoman Iris Reshef acknowledged yesterday's ruling likely means the signs must go, but she noted it specified the city can still issue fines to young smokers who cause problems.

"The measures we have taken can remain in place," Reshef said. "Just the signs cannot be there."

Amsterdam has long had an image as a free-wheeling haven for pot smokers because of its numerous "coffee shops" where marijuana is sold and smoked by locals and tourists alike.

Afghan president mourns brother

A heartbroken Hamid Karzai stood weeping in his murdered half brother's open grave yesterday as one of southern Afghanistan's mightiest power brokers, felled by the point-blank bullets of a confidante-turned-assassin, was laid to rest.

Beyond the confines of the sprawling government guest house where the Afghan president was grieving, however, few were shedding a tear for Ahmed Wali Karzai.

"My message to the Taliban, my brothers, is that they should stop killing their own people," president Karzai told the gathered mourners.

The streets of the provincial capital were empty and most shops closed in anticipation of a bloody backlash — a testament to the power Karzai, a political kingpin, wielded during the time he was alive.

Three co-ordinated bombings tore through the heart of India's busy financial capital during rush hour yesterday, killing 21 people and wounding 141.

Bloody bodies were strewn in the dirt of Mumbai's crowded neighbourhoods. Doors were ripped off storefronts and motorcycles were charred.

After the blasts in three separate neighbourhoods, police set up checkpoints and were put on high alert.

The bombings came just months after peace talks resumed between India and Pakistan, which New Delhi has blamed for past attacks.

Prime Minister Manmohan Singh condemned the blasts and appealed to the people of Mumbai "to remain calm and show a united face."

There was no immediate claim of responsibility, and Indian officials refused to speculate on who might be behind the blasts.

Indian officials have accused Pakistan's powerful spy agency of helping coordinate and fund earlier attacks, including the 2008 Mumbai siege, which killed 166 people over three days.

Peace talks between the countries were suspended after the siege and resumed only recently.

Pakistan's government expressed distress about the loss of lives and injuries soon after yesterday's blasts were reported.

U.S. President Barack Obama also condemned the "outrageous attacks."

► Social data could help Plus rise to the top: Analysts

Google didn't build its new Plus service simply to have an online hangout like Facebook.

Rather, Google's new social-networking endeavour is trying to gain valuable insights into people's lives and relationships. This could help the company do a better job of targeting ads so that advertisers would pay more and have less reason to spend on Facebook.

If it succeeds, Plus represents Google's best shot yet at muscling into a market that has threatened to topple the Internet search and advertising leader, as Facebook leads the way in making the online world social.

reminiscent of Facebook — with a Google touch. It lets people share photos and status messages, chat with friends and acquaintances and follow news updates. A prominent feature called circles allows users to organize the people they interact with into groups, such as family, close friends or fishing buddies. Users can choose to share things only among certain circles.

Google Plus is still in a restricted, test phase. Only time will tell if it takes off among the broader public or if it's too little, too late to face off with Facebook and Twitter on the social front. Early response to Google Plus has been positive. But that's no guarantee for broader success.

Media mogul backs down on bid

In a stunning retreat, Rupert Murdoch's News Corp. dropped its bid yesterday to take full control of British Sky Broadcasting during what the prime minister called a political and media "firestorm" over phone hacking at one of the media baron's U.K. newspapers. Murdoch stepped back from making potentially his biggest, most lucrative acquisition, accepting that he couldn't win British government approval since the country's major political parties are against it.

Pressure on RIM's upcoming products

DAVE CHIDLEY/THE CANADIAN PRESS

BlackBerry maker Research In Motion will have to deliver strong new products and financial results to counter doubts about its future prospects, analysts said yesterday, a day after RIM met with shareholders.

"Unless we see positive buildup in market share and positive sell-through of smartphones and tablet PlayBooks, I think for us it's going to be a matter of standing on the sidelines," said technology analyst Sameet Kanade of Northern Securities Inc. "They have gone in four years from being a leader to a reactor."

Shares in RIM dipped in morning trading a day after co-chief executives Jim Balsillie and Mike Lazaridis admitted that it could be doing better in some areas, but remained staunchly upbeat that a new generation of high-end BlackBerrys will drive stronger results.

Recent troubles have attracted criticism and depressed RIM's stock value, including the debut of its PlayBook tablet, a cut to its financial guidance and a plan to lay off some staff. Though the meeting was expected to be rough, RIM's directors were re-elected by shareholders.

Executives said a new slate of smartphones with an updated operating system will be ready in coming months. They also said a new generation of BlackBerrys with the same operating system as the PlayBook tablet will secure the company's future success. THE CANADIAN PRESS

FIRST PLACE IN THE RACE TO MEDIOCRITY

HE SAYS ...

JOHN MAZEROLLE
METRO

I hate to boast, but the fact is I play sports with an incredibly consistent level of mediocrity.

I'm not good or bad. I'm just there.

Tennis? Running? Ball hockey? Average, average, average. And I love it.

Want to take me on? Well, son, you best stand back at a moderate distance because I'm about to get all middling on your ass. I'm not just mean. I am THE mean.

You say you're average too? Well then, step up, and we'll find out what happens when the undistinguished force meets the intermediate object.

As you can see, it's easy to get my competitive juices flowing, even if those juices are of no-name-brand quality. I have the killer instinct, just no weapons to kill with.

At first blush, it probably seems strange that I have a viciously competitive attitude toward sports when they usually leave me blushing, period. How can I play so happily when I know I'm so very so-so?

It's simple: I like adventures and want to be part of one, even if I'm just a background character.

Sports are just storytelling in real time, and not everyone can be Indiana Jones. Some of us are just University Student, Bad Guy No. 2, or Guy Who Gets His Head Run Through By A Spike.

Any part in the story will do.

It's a natural urge, to want your life to be a grand adventure. But it's hard to pretend I'm a superhero when the hardest decision I face is deciding how many times a pair of jeans can be re-worn before washing, so I instead play sports — make-believe for adults.

One day, for instance, I can look back on a friendly tennis match and recount it like I'm some epic warrior, even if it's the tale of when I had each of my limbs hacked off by a much better warrior who had this amazing overhand broadsword.

As a mediocre player, I have a small part to play in the narratives of players both better and worse. Just starting to play tennis? Make reaching my skill level a short-term goal! A slightly above-average runner? You'll feel like a world-beater when you blow by me! I'm an inspiration!

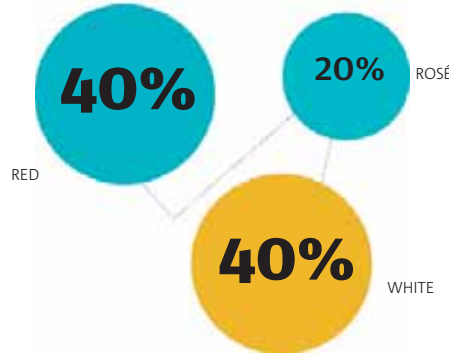

So this one goes out to all the mediocre athletes out there. The third-line left-wingers, the soccer fullbacks, the right-fielders batting eighth. I stand with you, here in the middle of the road, ready to offer all the support I can muster. An average amount, of course.

Worth Mentioning

WHAT'S BUGGING YOU?

What do mosquitoes like more than clean, human skin? Stinky socks. Scientists think the musky odour of human feet can be used to attract and kill mosquitoes that carry deadly malaria. The Gates Foundation announced yesterday it will help fund one such project in Tanzania.

The traps could provide the first practical way of controlling malaria infections outside.

Dutch scientist Dr. Bart Knols first discovered mosquitoes were attracted to foot odour by standing in a dark room naked and examining where he was bitten, said Dr. Fredros Okumu, the head of the research project at Tanzania's Ifakara Health Institute. But over the following 15 years, researchers struggled to put the knowledge to use.

Then Okumu discovered that the stinky smell — which he replicates using a careful blend of eight chemicals — attracts mosquitoes to a trap where they can be poisoned. The odour of human feet attracted four times as many mosquitoes as a human volunteer. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snake warrants double take at Ukrainian zoo

A two-headed snake has gone on display at a zoo in southern Ukraine.

The "Skazka" (Fairytale) zoo in the Crimean city of Yalta on the Black Sea said yesterday that the albino California Kingsnake has two heads that think, react and eat separately, though one is more passive than the other.

Dmytro Tkachov, a zoo worker taking care of the snake, said he puts a barrier between the heads when feeding the snake lest one eats the other.

The snake will be on display at the zoo until mid-September. The zoo would not provide further details. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Entourage rolls in

► Teenage Paparazzo film showing at Glenbow Museum ► Show's stars in town for showcase

BACKSTAGE PASS

JENNIFER LARAWAY
METRO CALGARY

It's a star-studded event with one of Hollywood's hottest stars making an appearance in Calgary and no, it's not for Stampede. Entourage star Adrian Grenier, along with Evan Ferrante are in town to showcase their film and tour Teenage Paparazzo at the Glenbow Museum this Saturday, July 16.

It's not very often you get to go to a movie and then rub elbows with the famous names who made it.

The Teenage Paparazzo tour has tickets up for grabs that get you into a Q&A session, VIP reception, or movie screening with Grenier and Ferrante.

So how much are tickets? Typically something like this goes for a few hundred in this city, but hold onto your cowboy hats... tickets ranging from $20 to $40 and are available on madflower.zoobis.com.

Making this event happen is Nico Bacigalupo of Madflower Creative Group, who met up with Ferrante in cowtown earlier this year.

Film

Teenage Paparazzo is a documentary that examines the relationship between celebrity and society.

► Details The film is directed by Grenier and Ferrante and stars Paris Hilton, Matt Damon, and countless other stars. Teenage Paparazzo is part of Glenbow's exhibit CUT! Costume and the Cinema.

"When he came to visit our city for the first time, we connected and spoke about a bigger picture of working together," says Bacigalupo.

"Teenage Paparazzo at that point was a film project, but Evan offered my company the opportunity to handle the Canadian tour. It was a perfect fit, and from there came the snowball effect of community support."

Community support indeed; Bacigalupo brought together everyone from local favourites to international names. Camilla di Giuseppe is hosting the red carpet while Oscar-nominated actress and songstress Juliette Lewis is performing at the VIP party, but Bacigalupo insists this event came together in a few short months because of the one thing Calgary is famous for: hospitality.

"Meeting Evan made things happen organically, and offered the opportunity for our event team to bring Calgary one of the hottest experiences during the week of Stampede," says Bacigalupo, who planned events in Hollywood for years, but returned home to Calgary.

"Having thrown events and been in the industry as long as I have, I just want to say how proud I am to call Calgary my home. Our city boasts some of the most ambitious and creative visionaries."

It's safe to say, Bacigalupo is chief among them.

PM Harper trying his hand at acting

Prime Minister Stephen Harper portrays a clueless cop in an upcoming episode of the Victorian-era detective series Murdoch Mysteries.

Citytv says the prime minister makes the cameo appearance in an episode that airs July 20.

The story centres on the murder of a former defence minister and a mysterious letter signed by Canada's first prime minister, Sir John A. MacDonald.

Harper plays desk Sgt. Armstrong, "a seemingly imperceptive man" who doesn't recognize then-prime minister Wilfrid Laurier when he walks into the police station.

Toddlers and tabloids

► The young stars of MTV Canada's hit reality series Teen Mom struggle to raise their toddlers while dealing with unrelenting tabloid attention

People tend to stare at 19-year-old Maci Bookout.

"If I go grocery shopping or something it's not that bad but on the weekends that Bentley's dad has him and me and my friends go out ... to a club or something I can tell that people are watching to see how I'm going to act or what I'm going to do," says Bookout, of Chattanooga, Tenn., mother of a two-year-old named Bentley and one of the stars of MTV's Teen Mom, a reality show about kids with kids.

Bookout and her co-stars, Farrah Abraham, Amber Portwood and Catelynn Lowell, first made their TV debut on another MTV reality show, 16 and Pregnant. The series was so successful that the network tapped them to star in the Teen Mom spin-off. Nielsen reports some 3.65 million viewers tuned in to its third season premiere on July 5.

Viewers watched Lowell and her boyfriend Tyler grieve over the daughter they gave up for adoption (they maintain they made the right decision), Abraham's ups and downs with her mother (one altercation between the two led to her mom being charged with assault) and Bookout navigate co-parenting with her ex-fiance Ryan.

Motherhood has made the teens instant celebrities, with tabloids and bloggers hot on their trail at every change or rumour in their lives.

"Like moving or marriage or are we pregnant again," says Abraham, 20, who has a two-year-old daughter named Sophia. "You know those things, I guess, are attention-grabbers so it's understandable why that would happen."

But Abraham doesn't think having a baby should make her a celebrity or a role model for other teens. "By no means do we think, 'Oh, it's cool to be a teen mom.' I definitely don't think that it's cool."

Lowell, 19, from Port Huron, Mich., has used her celebrity to help teens become more knowledgeable about safe sex and the responsibilities of parenthood. She speaks to teens at high schools and churches about teen pregnancy and the various options available.

Teen Mom airs Tuesdays at 10 p.m. EDT.

▶ Sarah Ferguson

She's Fergalicious

▶ The Duchess of York talks to Metro about her new book, Finding Sarah

Sarah Ferguson, the Duchess of York, has written a book, Finding Sarah, detailing her "journey to find herself" a year after she was taped by a journalist asking for cash for access to her former husband, Prince Andrew of the British royal family. She starred in a docu-series of the same name for Oprah Winfrey's OWN network. The duchess dishes with us.

In the last few days, U.K. newspapers have published highly critical articles about you and your book. Do you ever get used to it?

I've had it for more than 20 years. I can't win with them. It's not a lot of fun, but Fergie-baiting sells newspapers.

Even the U.S. media criticized some of the things you did on the OWN shows.

Dr. Phil said I was addicted to approval. He was right, and my journey in the last year taught me that. I'm recovering from the need for approval. The media can say what they like — I've learned to live through it, and anyway the OWN series gave me friendships with Oprah, Dr. Phil and Suze Orman.

Diana would have been 50 this month. You obviously still miss her.

Bless her. I'm the only royal ex-wife out here. Without her, I'm the only one having to do it on my own — with no support structure.

It's very difficult, because you are alone.

Loss is a key theme of the book. Your mother died in a car accident, your father from a long illness — and they divorced when you were young. What would you say if you could speak to them again?
That I love them, that I forgive them, that they have two wonderful granddaughters and that I'm a brilliant mum.

Do you recognize yourself on the video where you were set up by the journalist?

No. It was a crisis point for me, but I'm almost grateful because it forced me to confront my problems. This book and the journey I undertook are the result.

You make constant references to how wonderful your ex-husband, Prince Andrew, is. Can you ever be happy without being with him?
He is a wonderful man — my ideal, as I describe him in the book. Who knows what may happen?

DC Comics preps fans for relaunch

DC Comics says it is prepping readers and fans for its upcoming relaunch in late summer, offering up a free guide to its multiple relaunched comic characters and series.

The guide, DC Comics — The New 52, will be given away free starting July 20 at comic book shops and at the annual Comic-Con International in San Diego, which starts next week.

Besides a six-page preview of the upcoming Justice League No. 1 written by DC's chief creative officer Geoff Johns and illustrated by co-publisher Jim Lee, the guide will have covers for all 52 new series, sketches and details from writers and artists.

The series, which includes new takes on characters ranging from established heroes such as Superman, Batman and Wonder Woman, will also see new costumes and background for other characters, too, such as Sgt. Rock and western bounty-hunter Jonah Hex.

At the same time, the company said it would start selling digital copies of its printed ongoing superhero titles through apps and a website the same day they're released in comic shops. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wedding bells for Brangelina?

► Sources say power couple finally ready to say 'I do's'

While they've resisted the urge to tie the knot during their six years together, Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie are reportedly ready to walk down the aisle, three separate sources confirm to Us Weekly.

The ceremony could happen as soon as this summer and would likely take place at the couple's newly renovated Chateau Miraval in Correns, France, which includes a chapel on its grounds.

But despite their high profile, the wedding "would be intimate and informal," a source says.

Ryan Reynolds and Charlize Theron are reportedly an item, according to Us Weekly.

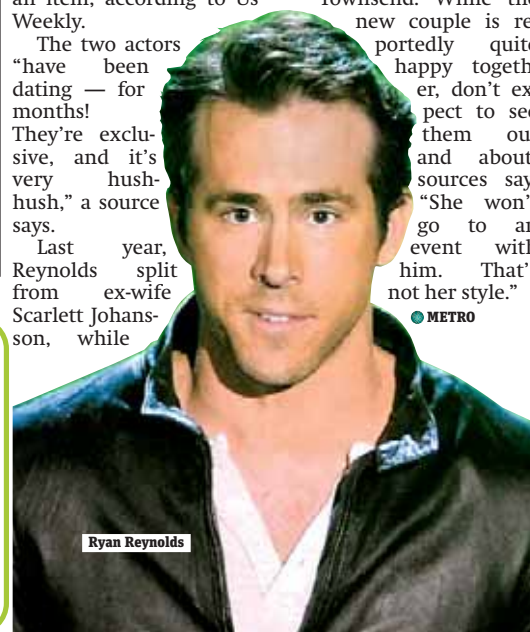

The two actors "have been dating — for months! They're exclusive, and it's very hush-hush," a source says.

Last year, Reynolds split from ex-wife Scarlett Johansson, while Theron broke up with longtime partner Stuart Townsend. While the new couple is reportedly quite happy together, don't expect to see them out and about, sources say. "She won't go to an event with him. That's not her style."

No more kids for Beckhams, friends say

Victoria and David Beckham happily welcomed their fourth child — and first daughter — earlier this week, but don't expect them to be welcoming a fifth.

Friends of the couple say baby Harper will be their last, according to People magazine.

"She was saying, 'I just want her to get here and want to be holding her in my arms — not in my belly,'" a source says of Victoria in the weeks leading up to the birth. "She had not been all that tired until the end, when it is just so hard to be active so pregnant."

Building a set of bold and beautiful eyebrows

► The bushy eyebrow is the trendiest its been since Brooke Shields rocked Calvins ► Celebrity makeup artist Serge Hodonou explains how to create the look at home

MCGUINNESS
METRO WORLD NEWS

Whether you want Kate Middleton's regal arches or the wild, wolf-like gaze of model Natalia Vodianova, the first step is to stop over-plucking and let your eyebrows grow. Serge Hodonou, a makeup artist in Paris whose clients include Björk and Freida Pinto, talks us through the next steps to your perfect eyebrows.

Identify your face shape

"You need to create proportion," Hodonou says. "On a long, angular face, a curved brow will add roundness and softness. On a more rounded face, straight brows will create a more angular, defined structure."

Choose the right colour

"Stick to shades of brown and stay clear of black, as this will bring harshness to the face, even on natural brunettes," he says. "Blondes should go for a shade just a little darker than their natural colour, such as light brown."

Create your shape

"Thickly draw in the shape you want with an eyebrow pencil or some loose powder. I don't use a liquid eyeliner pen because it doesn't look natural. Apply a lot of colour on the top half of the eyebrow (not under) as this will help lengthen and widen your gaze. Once you reach the tip of the eyebrow, never go too low because it will drag the eye down."

Tap it out

"Aim for natural, not drag queen. Tap and brush the colour using your fingers and then use a Q-tip to remove any excess. Use the Q-tip to blend in the colour and avoid graphic straight lines that look fake," he says.

► Blame fashion photo shoots such as this one for bringing the wolf-like, statement brow back.

Hardwood floors made easy

► From oak to maple to beech — beautiful wooden floors never go out of style ► Go with dark wood for a traditional look, or choose a light wood for a more contemporary feel

DESIGN CENTRE

KARL LOHNES
HOME@
METRONEWS.CA

Anyone who has bought a house or condo over the last 15 years is aware of the popularity of hardwood flooring; it's often the reason we buy one home over another.

Wood flooring, installed properly, in a suitable colour and wood type, can be enjoyed for a lifetime.

Choose the wrong stain, wood or size of wood plank and you'll have a trendy, expensive mess on your hands that isn't always so easy to change.

"The biggest mistake people make when choosing hardwood flooring is that they try to follow short-lived trends," says hardwood flooring expert Bill Schinas of Smithwood Floors in Etobicoke, Ont.

"Choosing a wood type and stain colour that belongs in the architectural style of your home will allow the wood floors to last a lifetime."

Here's a few of this flooring guru's dos and don'ts when choosing hardwood.

Do: Choose a wood type that is suitable for your lifestyle.

Most open-concept style homes work best with a hardwood like oak or maple. Oak tends to give a more traditional feel to the house while maple floors offer a more contemporary feel.

Don't: Choose your wood type around your decor scheme, but around the era/architecture of your home.

If you live in a modern condo, then choose a trendy flooring choice like grey-stained maple flooring. If you're buying an art-and-crafts style home then a deep cherry wood flooring would be most suitable.

Do: Follow trends of light or dark flooring as these tend to stick around for a long time. The trend to dark wood has been around for about 10 years and slightly lighter tones are now emerging.

Don't: Choose wide planked floor boards just because they are a trend.

They can make a small space feel smaller and will not suit the scale of most rooms in the new condos and homes.

Wide planked floors will always look great in either traditional or industrial style homes.

Do: Consider stain colours like walnut as it is the most neutral of all the stain colours. Note that cherry stains will have a more orange colour, mahogany will have more red and driftwood will have more grey (which is a big trend right now, but I think it will be short-lived).

Don't: Allow your decorator to choose your wood type and stain.

If building a house and working with a designer and architect, allow your architect to make the flooring suggestion.

They will not be as affected by trends and will incorporate the flooring choice into the integrity of the house's architectural scheme.

Do: Consider installing unfinished hardwood flooring. Although there is more work to install on site, it will look more professional.

The wood strip lengths are longer and they can be sanded and stained many times over the floor's lifetime.

Pre-finished flooring of ten has microbevels between the planks, making it more difficult to sand and stain in the future.

Question: My husband and I have argued about this since the day we got married. Can you please share the proper way to load a dishwasher? Frustrated Wife, Vancouver

Dear Frustrated Wife:

I know exactly what you're talking about! We had that same argument in my household when I was a kid, and it was only resolved when I became a butler and learned the correct way! Here are nine golden rules that work no matter what type of dishwasher you have.

1. For the cleaning cycle to work correctly, water needs to be able to circulate around all of the dishes.
2. Overcrowding is the most common problem.
3. Rinse dishes before loading.
4. Use racks for their designated purpose i.e. glassware on the top rack.
5. Items requiring more robust cleaning should be placed on the bottom rack.
6. Always use the amount of soap recommended by the manufacturer.
7. Always use a rinse aid. This really does help keep the dishes spotless (no gimmick here, I promise!)
8. If your dishwasher has a salt dispenser check to see if you have hard or soft water in your area.

The harder your water, the increased chances that you will need salt in the dishwasher to avoid residue buildup.

9. If your dishwasher isn't full, don't run a full cycle. Run the 10-minute rinse cycle. This will rinse your dirty dishes and you can continue to fill the dishwasher until you have a full load.

How to load the dishwasher Loading dishes with room around them allows for the water to circulate and clean them.

How not to load a dishwasher Overcrowding prevents the water from circulating around all of the dishes, a main reason for dirty dishes at the end of the cleaning cycle.

Building castles in the sandbox

► Bring a bit of the beach to your backyard ► The kids can get muddy and then play in the sprinkler

DIY IDEAS

Backyard sandboxes are an easy and inexpensive way to provide hours of fun and creativity for kids.

Building a sandbox is just one of many projects landscape contractor Ahmed Hassan has completed for his show Yard Crashers.

In each episode, he goes home with an unsuspecting home improvement store shopper to transform their backyard.

The Perfect Spot

Before you build anything, decide on the location and size of your sandbox.

Consider the amount of shade for children playing, line of sight for adults watching, and drainage in your yard.

Once the position has been determined, dig a three-inch deep square hole in the area.

Build the Box

Use four pieces of 2x6 untreated or non-toxic treatment wood in the length that will fit your location.

Ensure that the natural curve of each board faces inwards to prevent warping.

Attach the pieces with nails or screws, putting them in place at three points from top to bottom along each edge.

Use garden tarp or weed-blocking tarp — not plastic tarp — to cover the bottom of the box.

This will allow for drainage and prevent muddiness in the sandbox.

Simply lay it over the bottom of the box you have built and staple from one side to the other. Flip it over and place in the hole you have dug.

Fill the box with “play sand,” available in most home improvement stores.

This is a natural product that is fine in texture and most commonly used in sandboxes.

Protect the Box

Sandboxes must be covered when not in use to prevent any foreign objects from getting inside.

This is especially impor-

► Make sure to cover your new sandbox or cats might use it as a huge litter box.

tant in neighbourhoods where local animals may decide to use it as a litter box.

To do this, simply obtain a sheet of pressure-treated plywood matching the dimensions of your box, and drill two holes six inches apart on both sides.

String marine-grade rope through these holes to create handles for easy movement.

Place it overtop to protect the sandbox. Your sandbox is now complete and ready for fun!

MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you're lucky, you've never known a world without olive oil or a time when Parmesan cheese only came in green cans.

But there was such a world. Once stigmatized as the cuisine of "garlic eaters," Italian food and its ingredients were almost impossible to find in North America 40 years ago.

"Certain foods were so associated with lower-class people that it was a way of keeping those people and their food in their place," says John Mariani, author of How Italian Food Conquered the World.

But as increased travel and waves of new immigrants coaxed Americans to be more adventurous, Italian food found its way onto American tables — and into their hearts. During the 1960s and '70s, retailers began marketing "healthy" Italian ingredients, such as olive oil. And during the 1980s, big-name chefs like Wolfgang Puck adapted and enhanced foods like pizza, giving them culinary credibility and pushing them into the mainstream.

"Italian food appeals to such a broad spectrum," says Jonathan Waxman of the New York restaurant Barbuto. "It appeals to kids, snobby people, rustic diners. It appeals to big groups, or an elegant dinner. It goes the full gamut."

Waxman's new book, Italian May Way, adapts the simplicity, seasonality and, most of all, the spontaneity of Italian dishes to American sensibilities.

Among the recipes is this Angel Hair Pasta with Crab, Jalapeno and Mint.

Preparation:

1 In bowl, combine crab-meat, jalapeno, garlic, mint, butter. Set aside.

► Although it looks fancy, this dish is made in two steps.

2 Bring saucepan of salted water to boil. Cook pasta according to package directions. When pasta is al dente, use tongs or a slotted spoon to scoop out pasta and add it to crab mixture. Toss, then add lemon juice. Season with salt.

Rider can't resist Chance to compete

► Mississippi bull rider Chance Smart has overcome injuries to participate in the Stampede once again

Two years ago, Chance Smart suffered an injury that could have ended his bull-riding career — and even his life.

After being bucked off, he was kicked in the head and then he smashed his head on the ground. Smart's brain began to bleed.

"I didn't even know I was married, I didn't know my wife's name, didn't know nothing," said the Mississippi native.

After a few surgeries and months of recovery, Smart was back on the bull, rising to 19th in the rankings, only to be injured again, shattering his shoulder.

"Most people ask me, 'Were you not scared to come back from an injury like that and all them other injuries.' And I thought to myself, the only part that made me scared was the thought that I couldn't come back.

"I haven't made the final of the NFR (National Finals Rodeo) in two years because of my injuries."

With another rider suffering injuries, Smart was asked just one day before the Stampede to compete.

He said the chance to come back to compete in the Stampede is "overwhelming."

"I'm not even supposed to be here by the qualifications standards ... but how cool would it be if I were to slip in there and win the thing."

Photos flood social media

Calgarians can experience Stampede without leaving the comfort of their computer chair since a local company launched a social media experiment.

StampedePhotos.com, created by JOI Media, pulls all Stampede-related photos from Twitter into one live feed, allowing a glimpse of some of the many Stampede events.

"We wanted to use social media that could give a really good perspective on what's going on in the city during Stampede," said lead developer Eric Anderson.

"It was also an experiment to check out how active is Twitter."

During the first six days of Stampede, the site has pulled in thousands of Stampede shots, ranging from photos of the infamous doughnut burger to concerts and everything in between.

"We're up to about 3,500 photos that have been grabbed off Twitter since the start of parade," he said.

"Unless you're spending every single day Stampeding, it might be hard to see what's going on everywhere."

Frozen 'breakfast' never tasted so good

If you miss pancakes and syrup in the morning, MacKay's Ice Cream's new flavour ensures you get your fix for dessert.

With real pieces of pancake, bacon and maple syrup, "pancake breakfast" has all the ingredients of a classic Stampede breakfast.

"Last year we tried to invent some new flavours for the Stampede, so we came up with mini-doughnut and beer ice cream," said owner Mark Tayfel. "We needed something new this year, so we were tossing around ideas, so we thought we'd try pancake breakfast"

Tayfel said the sweet-salty combination has been popular with many Stampede-goers.

MacKay's can be found on the Stampede grounds in Weadickville.

60 SECONDS WITH AN INTERN

Calgarian Brendan Barnett is the Calgary Stampede's Ultimate Intern. His experiences are being documented on cs.calgarystampede.com/blog, the Calgary Stampede's Facebook page, as well as on Twitter @BlimpyB.

Why did you decide to enter the contest?

"Well, I already live in an RV and blog about it. I've been travelling around North America for the last year.... A friend of mine emailed me that there was this competition that he'd heard about and he was like, 'Living in an RV, blogging about it — this seems familiar.'"

What's your gig like and what do you have to do over Stampede?

"I live in an RV. It's tucked away, so it's not too bad, and I'm supposed to go to 20 unique experiences, like backstage.... They kind of try to throw me in headfirst to see how I react rather than me knowing exactly what's going on."

American women's soccer team partying like it's 1999

The United States kept its fans breathless again. And just like last time, Abby Wambach came up big. The American forward broke a tie with a thunderous header in the 79th minute, and the U.S. are heading to the Women's World Cup final for the first time since 1999 after a 3-1 victory over France yesterday. Wambach also had the game tying goal in the 122nd minute against Brazil in the quarterfinals. "We've achieved part of our goal. We're in the final," Wambach said. "We want to complete it. We want to be world champs." Japan will face the U.S. in Sunday's final after a 3-1 win over Sweden yesterday.

Top QBs ready to end lockout

► Deadlines coming up next week to get NFL training camps, pre-season started on time

Calling the players' offer "fair for both sides," star quarterbacks Tom Brady, Peyton Manning and Drew Brees — plaintiffs in an antitrust suit against the NFL — said yesterday "it is time" to wrap up negotiations on a deal to end the league's lockout.

Brady, Manning and Brees spoke as a group publicly for the first time with talks in a critical phase, four months into the league's first work stoppage since 1987. Players and owners met yesterday morning at a Manhattan law office for the latest round of discussions.

Although it seems the sides have agreed on the basic elements of how to split more than $9 billion US in annual revenues, there are still key sticking points on how to structure a new rookie salary system and what free agency will look like.

"We share the view that now is the time to reach an agreement so we can all get back to to football and a full 2011 season."

A STATEMENT RELEASE BY THE NFL YESTERDAY.

In a statement released to The Associated Press via the NFL Players Association, New England's Brady, Indianapolis' Manning and New Orleans' Brees said: "We believe the overall proposal made by the players is fair for both sides and it is time to get this deal done."

They continued: "This is the time of year we as players turn our attention to the game on the field. We hope the owners feel the same way."

In response, the NFL issued a statement saying: "We are working hard with the players' negotiating team every day to complete an agreement as soon as possible."

U.S. Magistrate Judge Arthur Boylan ordered both sides to speak with him in Minneapolis next Tuesday, and the owners have a special meeting set for July 21 in Atlanta, where they could vote to ratify a new deal if one is reached. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clemens' lawyer says DNA evidence was 'manufactured'

Prosecutors said yesterday that needles and cotton balls Roger Clemens' former trainer says he used to inject the star pitcher tested positive for Clemens' DNA and anabolic steroids — evidence the defence said was faked.

Assistant U.S. attorney Steven Durham revealed the results during opening arguments in Clemens' trial on charges of lying to Congress about using performance-enhancing drugs. Clemens' lawyer Rusty Hardin responded that he won't dispute the needles contain Clemens' DNA and steroids, but accused the trainer Brian McNamee of "mixing" it up. "He manufactured this stuff," Hardin told jurors. "Roger Clemens' only crime was having the poor judgment to stay connected with Brian McNamee." Hardin said steroids would have been "incredibly inconsistent with his career and beliefs that there's no way he would have done it."
